CONCLUSIONS

This year has been very productive in identifying needs of our community through the justice system and identifying our resources. LPSCC has been proactive in having open conversations about community mental health and what is needed to improve that in our area. There are not a lot of resources for a clear solution in our community and LPSCC has started collaborations to improve this. Through the Union County SIM project, LPSCC is breaking it down and focusing on pretrial services first as well as some side projects and will work through the mapping to hopefully improve each sequence. Union County has a robust LPSCC that works well together and is solution focused.
